Experience

Prior to joining the Joe Knows Energy team, Steve was President of Performance Training Services (PTS). For five years, PTS trained NCCER curriculum, in heavy equipment operator, crane certifications and truck driver (CDL). The team included recruiters, trainers and human resource professionals. PTS operated in 4 locations in Ohio, Texas and South Carolina.

Prior to Performance Training Services, Steve was Quality and Human Resource Leader for Performance Site Company (PSC). In this role, he directed human resources, safety, hiring, and training. Under his leadership PSC obtained its ISO-9000 certification. In this role he leveraged his previous experience as Field Operations Manager where he scheduled and supervised all field, dirt, utilities, paving, concrete, lime stabilization, environmental and survey crews.

In 1970, Steve began a fourteen year career working in the coal fields overseeing and hiring personnel for four coal tipples. He worked in underground mines until he became part owner of Copper mining. After the sale of the underground mine, Steve transitioned into President of Model Dredging for coal in four different locations and managed hiring and plant operations.

Steve broadened his experience when he joined Fraley Construction in Phoenix, Arizona, for two years and served as foreman for dirt and paving crews. A move back to Ohio began a twenty-one year career with Performance Site Management as an operator. He jumped into his role as a mechanic and soon became a Logistics/Fleet Manager.
